News Release of July 23, 2008

NO LIFEGUARD STAFFING AT STARLITE BEACH

The public is advised that due to reduced staffing levels, no City lifeguards will be on duty at Starlite Beach on Friday, July 25, 2008. Full staffing should be available again starting on Saturday, July 26, 2008.

As a reminder, the City of Alpena is advising the public that it is operating with fewer lifeguards at Starlite Beach this season due to an unavoidable loss of trained staff. In such an event, the City will provide as much public notice as possible.

Visitors to Starlite Beach should take appropriate safety precautions, and swimmers are advised that they swim at their own risk.
